

HOLLOWAY PARK COMMUNITY

Project Update – December 2025

Dear Neighbours,

GREEN SKILLS HUB RECOGNISED AT SOCIAL VALUE AWARDS

The Green Skills Hub at Holloway Park was recognised at the Social Value Leadership Group Supply Chain Awards, where it was shortlisted for Best Innovation and named Rising Star for its bold and inclusive approach to delivering community benefit.

The award celebrates the collaborative partnership between Peabody, London Square, and Islington Council, who have worked together to activate the Hub since early 2024. The Green Skills Hub supports local people through green skills training, employment support, and free space for community organisations while the development is under construction.

Since opening in March 2024, the Hub has supported over 100 people with employment advice, delivered 140+ qualifications, and provided free space to four local organisations. We're proud of this recognition and look forward to continuing this partnership to deliver lasting social value in Islington.

Next Drop-In Session will be the 7th of January between 14:30pm to 17:30pm

INSPIRING YOUNG VOICES AT HOLLOWAY PARK

Holloway Park welcomed student leaders for Environment, Sustainability and Community from Beacon High. The visit gave students the opportunity to explore the site, learn about sustainable construction practices, and take part in discussions around landscape design and future outdoor spaces.

The students showed real enthusiasm, asked thoughtful questions, and shared strong ideas about how the development's open spaces can support the local community in the years ahead. We look forward to welcoming more local schools to Holloway Park as the project continues and strengthening connections with the community.

SUPPORTING WOMEN INTO CONSTRUCTION AT HOLLOWAY PARK

Beginning of the month at Holloway Park, we were proud to host an all-women pre-apprenticeship programme focused on opening up opportunities within the plumbing trade. Delivered by Malcolm Building Services Limited, the programme provided a supportive, hands-on introduction to working in construction.

Throughout the week, participants took part in practical training sessions using modern plumbing systems and equipment, with support from manufacturers. The sessions were designed to build confidence, skills, and real understanding of the trade.

The programme has already led to positive outcomes:

- Five women are progressing into work experience
- Of these, three are set to take up plumbing apprenticeships with Malcolm Building Services Limited

These results mark meaningful progress in improving representation in construction and creating clear pathways into skilled employment for local women. We're excited to see the participants take their next steps and look forward to welcoming more initiatives like this at Holloway Park.
