

HOLLOWAY PARK COMMUNITY

Project Update – April 2026

Dear Neighbours,

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN IN CONSTRUCTION (NAWIC) AT HOLLOWAY PARK

We were pleased to welcome members of the National Association of Women in Construction to Holloway Park. NAWIC is an international not-for profit association dedicated to the advancement of women in the construction industry. The visit included a tour of the Women's Building, followed by a trip to the top of the building where guests enjoyed views across the site.

After the tour, we hosted a networking breakfast, where attendees heard from some of the women working on site, including our apprentices. It was particularly inspiring to have women from a range of roles all in one room — from crane drivers and architects to plumbers and site managers — sharing their experiences and celebrating their journeys in construction.

As part of the wider vision for Holloway Park, we are proud to support initiatives that empower women and create inclusive spaces.

We are excited to announce that a new cohort for the Level 1 Cycle Maintenance course is starting soon at the Green Skills Hub at Holloway Park.

The sessions are organised and delivered by Islington Adult Community Learning (ACL). This hands-on course gives participants the opportunity to learn essential bike repair and maintenance skills, while gaining practical experience in a supportive environment.

It's a great opportunity for anyone interested in sustainability, active travel, or developing new technical skills. If you are interested in joining, please contact: acl@islington.gov.uk or call 07734 777466

WORK EXPERIENCE AT HOLLOWAY PARK

We were pleased to welcome Rae to Holloway Park for a period of work experience. With a background in security, Rae is now looking to transition into a career in site management.

During her time on site, Rae has been shadowing one of our Site Managers, gaining valuable insight into the day-to-day responsibilities of the role and experiencing first-hand how a construction site operates.

“This experience has confirmed to me that this is a career I want to pursue, and I would love to go on to complete an apprenticeship,” said Rae.

This opportunity provides valuable hands-on experience and supports individuals who are interested in developing new skills and exploring careers within the construction industry.
